Notes:

Acts 10:34-43

“Christianity is in its very essence a resurrection religion. The concept of resurrection lies at its heart. If you remove it, Christianity is destroyed.” —John Stott

“The Gospels do not explain the Resurrection; the Resurrection explains the Gospels. Belief in the Resurrection is not an appendage to the Christian faith; it is the Christian faith.”
—John S. Whale

“Christianity begins where religion ends... with the resurrection!” —Ken Whitten

Acts 1:1-3

Acts 2:22-24 | Acts 3:15, 26

Acts 4:10, 33 | Acts 5:30

“Jesus lived, died, rose again and gives life to all who believe.”

|--------------------------------|---------------------------|
| Caesarea | Joppa |
| Cornelius | Peter |
| Respectable Gentile Soldier | Zealous Jewish Apostle |
| Rome | Jerusalem |
| “God-Fearer” | “Christ-Follower” |

Notes:

“The emphasis is that Cornelius’ gentile nationality is acceptable so that he has no need to become a Jew but not that his own righteousness was significant so that he did not need to become a Christian.” —John Stott

Acts 10:42-43

Notes:

“My argument against God was that the universe seemed so cruel and unjust. But how had I got this idea of just and unjust? A man does not call a line crooked unless he has some idea of a straight line. What I was comparing this universe to and calling it unjust? Of course I could have given up my idea of justice by saying it was nothing but a private idea of my own. But if I did that, then my argument against God collapsed too—for the argument depended on saying that the world was really unjust... Thus in the very act of trying to prove that God did not exist that the whole of reality was senseless—I found I was forced to assume one part of reality—namely my idea of justice—was full of sense. Consequently atheism turns out to be too simple. If the whole universe has not meaning, we should never have found out it has meaning... —C.S. Lewis
