¹If I speak in the tongues of men and of angels, but have not love, I am a noisy gong or a clanging cymbal. ²And if I have prophetic powers, and understand all mysteries and all knowledge, and if I have all faith, so as to remove mountains, but have not love, I am nothing.

³If I give away all I have, and if I deliver up my body to be burned, but have not love, I gain nothing.

—1 Corinthians 13:1-3 ESV

Life – Love = 0

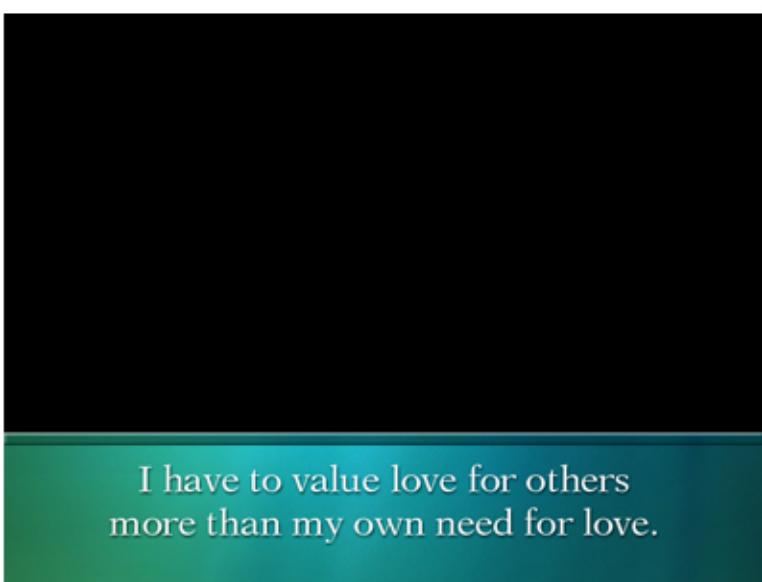

04.jpg

I must accept and share the responsibility for the health and well-being of all my relationships.

05.jpg

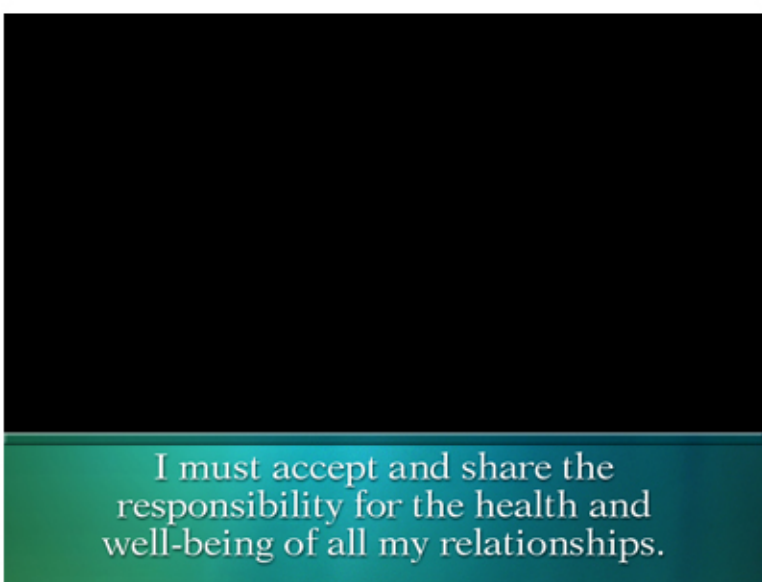

To dwell up above with those we love,
that will be glory.
To live here below with those we know,
that is a different story.

06.jpg

I have to value love for others
more than my own need for love.

07.jpg

I must accept and share the responsibility for the health and well-being of all my relationships.

We all want respect.

11.jpg

We all want appreciation.

12.jpg

We all want encouragement.

13.jpg

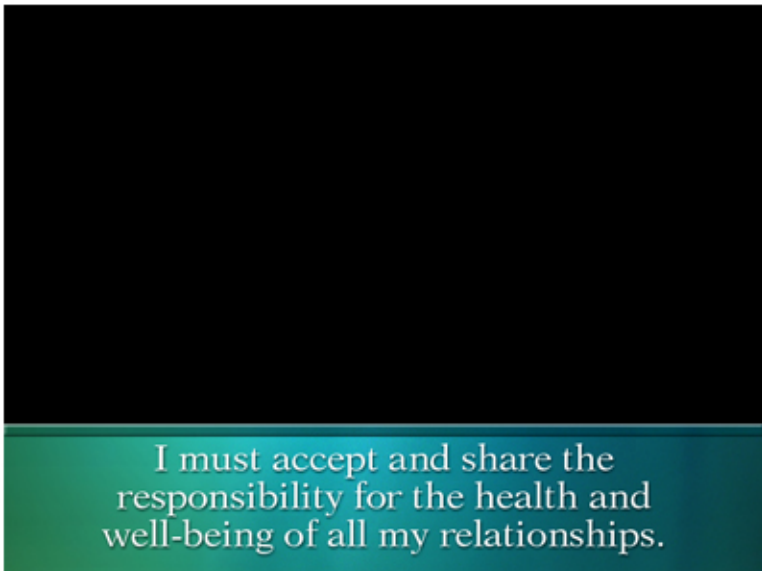

We all want understanding.

14.jpg

We all want forgiveness.

Taking Responsibility Begins With My Heart

19.jpg

Keep your heart with all vigilance,
for from it flow the springs of life.
—Proverbs 4:23 ESV

20.jpg

“Whenever you focus your attention on what the other person is doing, you take away your own power. You make yourself weak. In focusing on the other, you try to control things you can’t control. For that reason it’s an exercise in total futility, inefficiency, and ineffectiveness...”

21.jpg

“When you focus on yourself rather than on the other person, you vastly increase your odds of being able to enjoy some impact and influence over the relationship problem that bothers you.

¹²This is my commandment,
that you love one another
as I have loved you.
¹³Greater love has no one
than this, that someone lay down his life for his friends.
—John 15:12-13 ESV
