Carefully read and wisely understood, they act as powerful stabilizers for God's people today as they face the twenty-first century's changes and challenges." —Dr. John Blanchard

These books are "minor" in size, but not in significance.

-.008.tiff

Little is known about most of these prophets as people.

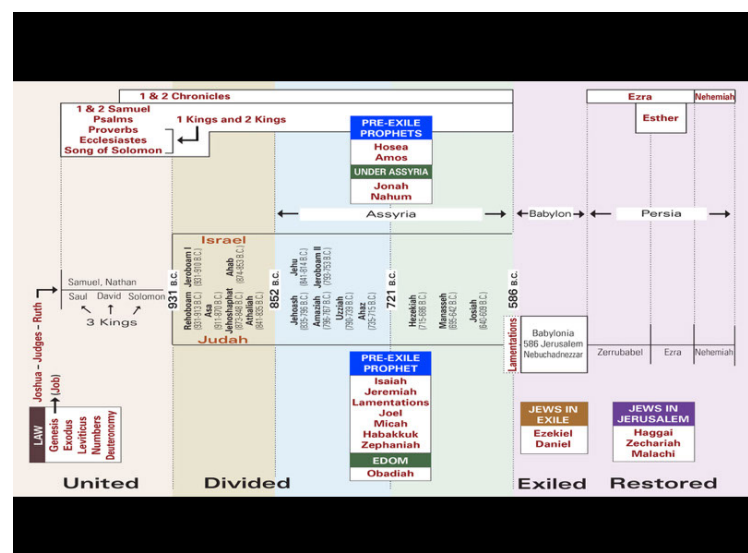

-.009.tiff

These books reflect great diversity of time, personality, setting, experience and background, yet each speaks with unity concerning the nature of God and the plan of God for His people.

-.010.tiff

For no prophecy was ever produced by the will of man, but men spoke from God as they were carried along by the Holy Spirit.

—2 Peter 1:21 ESV

“The two testaments are two lips by which God has spoken to us.”
—Thomas Watson

Jesus referenced many of these prophets during His earthly ministry.

“The words the prophet utters are not offered as souvenirs. His speech to the people is not a reminiscence, a report, hearsay.
The prophet not only conveys; he reveals. He almost does unto others what God does unto him. In speaking, the prophet reveals God.

-.016.tiff

This is the marvel of a prophet's work: in his words the invisible God becomes audible. He does not prove or argue. The thought he has to convey is more than language can contain. Divine power bursts in the words. The authority of the prophet is in the Presence his words reveal.”

—Rabbi Abraham Heschel

“Reading the prophets can be an unsettling experience. Here we see God’s utter, absolute fury against sin.
The graphic accounts of what God is going to do to his own faithless, immoral and complacent people constitute some of the scariest words in all literature.” —Gene Edward Veith

God Loves

-.023.tiff

...Return to the LORD your God, for He is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and abounding in steadfast love...
—Joel 2:13 ESV

“The move from the Old Testament to the New Testament is not a move from a wrathful God to a loving God. Rather the New Testament ratchets up both themes.” —D.A. Carson ¹Long ago, at many times and in many ways, God spoke to our fathers by the prophets, ²but in these last days He has spoken to us by His Son, whom He appointed the heir of all things, through whom also He created the world.

³He is the radiance of the glory of God and the exact imprint of His nature, and He upholds the universe by the word of His power. After making purification for sins, He sat down at the right hand of the Majesty on high,
